

Volunteers needed to monitor the health of The River Crane/ Yeading Brook

ZSL
LET'S WORK
FOR WILDLIFE

The Zoological Society of London as part of the Citizen Crane Project is offering training in the River Monitoring Initiative (RMI) sampling method.

The RMI is a national scheme for monitoring the health of rivers. In order to be trained in the RMI you must be able to sample the river for at least 6 months. Once at the river, samples take about 30 minutes and are taken monthly.

In the training you will learn:

- The aims of the Citizen Crane Project
- About the RMI scheme
- How to kick sample a river.
- How to identify river invertebrates.
- What to do with the RMI data.

You will also meet other volunteers working up and down the catchment. Everyone involved in the scheme will be invited to the Crane Forum at ZSL London Zoo

The training will take place at Ruislip Golf Club,
Ickenham Road, Ruislip

Saturday May 7th
11am to 4pm

To book a place or for more information please contact : Joe.pecorelli@zsl.org